Pandemic Impact on Routine Medical Appointments
March 19, 2020

In response to the coronavirus pandemic, patients of Excela Health physicians can expect that routine medical appointments will be rescheduled.

Physicians will be reviewing upcoming appointment schedules to determine what patient visits would be characterized as routine versus those that are medically necessary to be seen.

Patients that require an acute evaluation will continue to be seen as scheduled.

Depending on circumstances and your personal health history, your physician may opt to contact you directly to assess if your appointment is necessary, provide advice on your particular health issue, relay test results and fill your prescription(s).

We will return to a normal scheduling process once the present challenges of the pandemic abate. We appreciate your understanding of this matter.
